

Areas of Specialization sought:

Besides being able to teach Microeconomics, Macroeconomics and Indian Economy to the Undergraduate student, the following areas of specialization are preferred, though this is not the exhaustive list: Agricultural Economics, Industrial economics, International Economics, Environmental Economics, and Applied Econometrics, Labour Economics, Mathematical Economics, Public Policy, Applied Microeconomics/Game Theory, Financial Economics and Finance, Development Economics (Gender Studies, Health Economics, Urban Economics, etc), Demography, Law and Economics.