One, in relation to how cases are resolved, in that redressal does not necessarily have to be punitive and instead may be educational, (depending on it is openly discussed at forums which are attended by both teachers and students; women students are encouraged to speak up freely in class or elsewhere.

Internal Continuous Evaluation System and place

A system of continuous and comprehensive evaluation is designed with 20% marks earmarked for continuous assessment, 30% for mid-semester and 50% for end-semester examinations. The division for practical courses and project work is 50% each for continuous assessment and end-semester examinations. Continuous assessment will include a variety of tools including tests, assignments, quizzes, case studies etc. Formative assessment will feed into the teaching practices and steps will be taken to use assessment for learning.

Students' assessment of Faculty, System in place

The feedback questionnaire on the faculty is designed to capture their subject knowledge, communication skills, class preparation, use of ICT tools, exposure to prospects in the field & motivation given to the students to participate in co /extracurricular activities. There is also a section on self-assessment by students on the course and their learning which is also indirect feedback on the faculty.

Class committee meetings conducted periodically during the course also provides a platform for feedback on the faculty and assists them to adapt their teaching and resources to suit the overall needs of students taking the course.
